

March 30th, 2020

CORONAVIRUS IMPACT UPDATE

As the impact of the Coronavirus pandemic continues to affect daily lives, business and world markets we want to take this opportunity to provide a short update from IGM Resins. Many of our team members are now working effectively from their homes as we follow the advice of governments and focus on ensuring the safety and health of all our employees.

Our factories remain operational with Haimen China responding to increased demand for photoinitiators for sensitive and food packaging applications, Mortara Italy working on a reduced schedule in line with the safety mandates of local government, and Charlotte USA operating to plan on production of energy curable resins.

In these uncertain times, we kindly request that if our customers anticipate any changes to their demand patterns, or if you have any queries or concerns, then please let your account management contact know so that we can keep working together as smoothly as possible.